ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK. FOR MAGNIFICENT EXHIBITS AT THE STATE FAIR.

A Talk with Secretary Grier.—The Auction Sale of Registered Jersey Cattle—Several Fine Gorps to be Exhibited—A Brass Band Engaged.—The Game of Baseball—Notes.

MACON, Ga., October 6.—[Special.]—Perhaps the happiest man in Macon today is Mr. E. C. Grier, secretary of the State Agricultural society. Your correspondent called at his office this morning, and had the pleasure of a talk with him concerning the prospects for the success of the approaching state fair.

"You may say," said he, "that the outlook was never more encouraging than it is now. The fair has been a success for last year's fair, and we are to begin what they are at present. The fact is, we are going to have the best fair ever held in Georgia. I am constantly in receipt of letters from the superintendents of the various departments, and they write most encouragingly. We will have displays from some counties which have never before taken any interest in state fairs."

"Tell me something about the Jersey show?"

"The Jersey cattle which will be on exhibition will be the finest ever seen in the south."

"Oh, that is hard to tell at present. You may say, however, that there will be from one hundred to two hundred head of cattle in the county head of due cattle here. Last year Morris, Wade of Atlanta; Rose of Rome; and Branch & Wood of Marietta, were the chief exhibitors to the fair, and they so fully realized the beneficial results of the exhibits and subsequent sales, that they will be back again next year, and it is to be hoped that the hall building during the coming winter with stoves.

"A Marriage."—The County Commissioners, MACON, October 6.—[Special.]—Today was the regular monthly meeting of the county commissioners to be held today, but there was very little property offered for sale. A house and lot on Second street, belonging to Mrs. Jane E. Oliver, was sold under payment of $1,000. A house and lot located in East Macon was sold as the property of George Warner for the purpose of $1,000. The sale of the property was made by the sheriff, and the amount same, $1,000. Sherman Missing, collector, was up on a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $50.

Second street took the sidewalk at Heris's store, and was caught Heris's corner.

Mr. Payne, bruised and bleeding, was carried into Judge Freeman's office, where his wounds were dressed. Late this afternoon he was resting easily.

Sheriff's Sales.

MACON, Ga., October 6.—[Special.]—The attention of the recorder's court this morning was given to hearing a number of cases, and when the court was over it was found that the fines imposed amounted to $65.

Messrs. F. G. Chambers and James W. Friend were each fined $10 for engaging in a fight with Capt. J. W. T. Moore, of Fulton, who had been fined $5. Mary Vails was fined $10 for fighting. J. W. T. Moore, for being drunk and disorderly, was fined $10. John H. Johnson, collector, paid the same amount. Sherman Missing, collector, was up on a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $50.

MACON, October 6.—[Special.]—Dr. F. C. Johnson, of Lee county, was married this afternoon at the residence of the bride's mother, on Spring street, to Miss Annie Hutchins. The happy couple left for Vineville tonight.

"Brief Mention."

MACON, October 6.—[Special.]—The city council will be holding a meeting tonight.

"Ed was found wearing a large moccasin was killed on Fourth street."

Last night James Jackson, the driver of a city bus, was shot in the head. He was robbed of his pocket knife.

"Ed was found guilty and sentenced to the state prison for twenty years for the killing of his wife, and the sale and exchange that will be made will be one of the most important features of the fair."

"Who are going to make cattle exhibits be-re the great and general exhibition of East Point, J. B. Turner, of Winslow, S. C., O. A. Brown, and of Pendleton, S. C.; Huntington and Yancey, and of Greenville, S. C.; and W. H. and W. M. McElveen, will be among those who will make exhibits."

"What do you know anything about any other Jerseys that will be on exhibition?"

"Oh, yes. Mr. B. Wade's cattle are fine as any to be found in the country. He has a herd of Jersey cows, one of the best of Wade's herd, and gives a large quantity of milk. His full sister is one of the largest milkers in the country. Mr. H. S. H. Wade also owns his full sister, one of the largest and most promising yearlings. I have even seen, though, a Jersey cow which was over seven gallons a day."

The general secretary then talked interestingly of the great benefit this grand congregation of the best cattle in the country will be to the country. There are a number of owners of Jerseys who want to exchange their bulls and a fine opportunity will be given to all to buy them. A large number of the cows to be exhibited will be sold at auction toward the close of the fair."

"I expect that Judge Farde, of New Orleans, will arrive in the city about the 23rd instant, to assist Judge Speed in the United States grand jury.

"That is a wonderful record. What others have?"

"He has another fine young bull, a son of Danvers and Alice Templeton."

"What of Alice Templeton?"

"Alice Templeton is a fine young cow, one of the best of Wade's herd, and gives a large quantity of milk. Her full sister is one of the largest milkers in the country. Mr. H. S. H. Wade also owns his full sister, one of the largest and most promising yearlings. I have even seen, though, a Jersey cow which was over seven gallons a day."

"Now the exhibits in other departments will be better in all departments than ever before. The display in field crops will be wonderful. I get encouraging reports from all over the country, and the agricultural fair, cast of Houston county, having for its members such men as George and Hercules Lee, will bring a large number of the best field crops to the fair."

"The cotton crop in this section has not been injured by the late rain."

"Pastured W. W. Brown has moved into his new residence on Peachtree street."

The stores are beginning to get somewhat dusty again.

Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, OCTOBER 7, 1855.

INDICATIONS for the South Atlantic States 1 a. m. fair weather; variable winds; generally north to east; stationery temperature; slight rise in temperature in interior.

PENNSYLVANIA murderer, crazed at the shocking crime committed by himself two years ago, has given himself up to the Chelmsford police to ease his outraged conscience.

Is John Sherman and Halstead want the negroes of the south to rush out and vote they should come south with a brass band and preside over a free barbecue in every county.

The Indians of Montana have again become fractious, and troops are on the march to check them. Many of them have left their reservations and are creating considerable anxiety among the settlers.

CARDINAL MCCLURE, of New York, has taken the last rites of the sacrament, and his death is at any time expected. Archbishop Corrigan will, by the right of succession, become cardinal immediately after his death.

The European powers are at work to settle the European question, without bloodshed. Communications will be addressed to Turkey and Bulgaria, looking toward an amicable adjustment of the trouble, and as this has been the favorite method of settling recent European embroilments, it is probable that it will be successful.

"God help the poor," says the able New York Herald, "the rich can help themselves." To this it may be added that if the Lord fails to help the poor they get precious little help from the very rich. Even now the banks are making arrangements to depreciate the silver dollar, and declare in premium gold; and they are aided in their efforts by a jaw-breaker in the treasury named Jordan.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND leaves no room to doubt where he stands. He is a democrat, and he desires the success of the democratic party in every state of the union. The attempt to array him against Governor Hill will doubtless be abandoned, and some other form of misrepresentation substituted. Mr. Cleveland speaks with all the emphasis of a man in earnest.

It is probable that New York will soon witness the execution of the first woman hung in that state for more than forty years. The horrible crime for which Mrs. Druse will hang on the 26th of November, is one of the most revolting ever recorded in the history of the gallows, to the only execution that an outraged community could expect to would submit to.

EX-GOVERNOE MOSES, of South Carolina, is closely watched during his confinement to prevent him from ending his life of degradation and shame by suicide. His sectional crusade. The people of Cincinnati built the southern railroad to get southern trade, and all over the state there is a sentiment against the Sherman-Forsker effort to stir up sectional bitterness and strife. Business men will not listen to it, and the sensible men of both parties and all occupations will be heard from next Tuesday.

The championship season of baseball is about ended, and the papers in summing up the results conclude that it has been a good year for baseball. More people have taken an interest in this excellent out-door amusement than ever before. It is generally admitted that the southern league had the most exciting season. The New York team takes its defeat by the Chicago nine in true sporting fashion, and proposes to win the pennant for 1856 by playing better ball than Chicago did this year.

EX-SENATOR THOMAS, of Ohio, made a ringing speech last night at Toledo, in reply to the bloody shirt issue raised by John Sherman. He charged that the issue was a false and fatal one, endangering the business and prosperity of the whole country, and said that it would not be sanctioned by the voters of Ohio. He defended the south from the malignant abuse heaped upon her by Sherman and Forsker, and quoted the words of the martyred Hoadly in opposition to a revival of sectional strife.

PHILADELPHIA is no longer the medical metropolis of the country. It held first place a long time, but statistics show that both New York and Chicago now turn out more doctors. The number of medical students last year was 12,770. Chicago has the most homoeopathic students, and Cincinnati the most eclectic students. Philadelphia, Chicago, New York and Baltimore have schools for the medical education of women, but in this respect Philadelphia easily leads them all.

THE Springfield Republican, alluding to what it is pleased to term "Georgia's repudiation," says, "there is no power that can make moneyed men invest in a commonwealth that will not pay its debts." This is very silly. If Georgia has repudiated any debt, it is a little singular that there should have been a rush among capitalists for her new bonds, and that the attorney general of New York should declare that her credit is as good as the best, and her securities a safe investment. Clews has caused a great many bright editors to stop over.

NEW YORK is afflicted with the orchid mania—orchid with a very hard "k." This mania became acute when the collection of the late Mrs. Mary J. Morgan was offered at public sale. Mrs. Morgan spent $200,000 in collecting 2,000 orchids, and in spite of the mania, her heirs will receive therefrom only $3,000. And yet single specimens of the hemipetal plant brought from $50 to $500. The mania first arose in England, where, in a sale, single orchids have brought $300. The plant grows in nearly all parts of the world in a crude, uncultivated sort of way, and these remain show that the system is an absolute necessity.

Every city in the country of any importance has its system of fire inspection, and carelessness that results in the destruction of property is criminal. Ordinarily, very great risks are run in the matter of providing against fires. People habituate themselves to such risks, and the probability is that none are more surprised when a fire occurs than those whose carelessness has made it possible.

The sanitary inspectors might very well and with a possibility of culminating in beautiful blossoms. The southern woods are full of crude specimens.

CERTAIN free-trade papers printed in the boudies west and under the influence of the whisky ring, have been declaring that they propose to renew their attentions to the tariff in congress, and that they would hove every democra out of the party who dared oppose them. But Mr. Morrison has modest views. He proposes to try to revise the tariff, but he doesn't talk hopefully, and he doesn't announce that he will drive any body out of the party. The truth of the business is that there can be no real revision of the tariff until the republican senate is revised.

follow the example which Chief Joyner has set them and make thorough examination of the premises in their respective districts. In some buildings the chief found the cellar flooded with water which gave forth foul odors. Such a condition of affairs is but the prelude to some epidemic of disease constituting nuisances which the sanitary inspectors should lose no time in abating.

WAS IT SUICIDE OR MURDER?

A case now pending in the courts at San Antonio excites great interest all over Texas, and some of its features will attract the attention of medical men and lawyers everywhere.

THE most daring and influential member of the demimonde in San Antonio is Ygnacia Cortez, a Mexican woman whose ripened charms have been scorched by the sun of summer. The same teachers who made the school so useful last year will be in charge of it this year. Mechanical drawing as well as the use of wood working and iron working tools, will be taught. Such schools as this offer the surest means of increasing and improving the useful industries of Atlanta. If, in addition to these evening classes, an arrangement could be made which would give to promising pupils in our public schools an opportunity to use the apparatus of the Artisan's Institute on certain afternoons of the week, we should confer an inestimable benefit upon our youth and the productive industries which we wish to encourage. It is to be doubted whether he was as perfect as Hodo or as fleet as Jonah.

The first attempt at crossing these streams was made by Sam Reed, of Jasper county, who Flora was a beauty in her day, when she was not what she should have been—having a plentiful lack of vigor. Other experiments were more successful, and the fox hunters of middle Georgia, take them altogether, have as fine kennels as are to be found in the world.

The red fox is migratory. His instincts in this direction are stronger than his fears. A hound is not more afraid of water, and yet he swims rivers on his march to the southwest. Whenever he goes he runs the gray out. These are the only differences between the two species, and the latter's greater discretion is the better part of wisdom. The migratory movements of the red continuos, but Georgia is still plentifully supplied with them, so that the hunters will have little difficulty, now that the crisp mornings are coming on, in getting them about in the red hills. It is a noble sport!

REPUBLICANS AND INDEPENDENTS.

A Starting Combination Between the Republicans and the Democrats.

Atlanta Special to Savannah Times.

The Times correspondent has just come into possession of information that there is an imminent coalition of republicans and independents against the railroad bill, with a view to making a race in the next campaign. The independents in the state have voted against the bill and are looking to it for the name of the people. The proprietor of one of the afternoon papers here that opposed the bill is a republican, and the editor of that paper was the only republican candidate for the legislature in this country. It is reported that John E. Bryant has written several communications in that paper opposing the bill. Fulton has so far made the longest speech on the bill, and was the only man whose line was indefinitely extended in the face of the resolution limiting speeches to thirty minutes at the outside. Fulton was allowed to speak two hours. This issue will be a part of the plank of independent in the next campaign.

THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Further Expressions of Public Opinion Voiced by the Newspapers.

From the Redville Enterprise.

The bill has passed the popular committee, as it has passed the senate and now pending in the house, makes ample provision for the bills of the railroads, and at the same time puts such a controlling power in the people that no less need be entertained by them about its workings should it become a law.

We have not space for a full description of the bill, but we will in a second article in accordance with the wishes of our friends in accord with the people's desire to encourage the building of railroads, and at the same time bettering the way for them to support the bill, thereby sanctioning the work of improvement and showing the grand old commonwealth the development of From the Lehighana Signal.

The railroad is the mainspring of commerce; the law of civilization; the father of progress. It is the lever that moves the world; the chain that binds the nations together; and makes all mankind neighbors. We cannot overlook the picture placed too high an estimation upon the influence of the railroads in the growth of the world. It has taken in placing us in the exact position we occupy in the history of the world's civilization.

Now we believe the railroad commission ought to be abolished outright, and let the laws of trade govern the prices of transportation. If that was the case, we would have no objection to it. But we are for that proposition which comes the nearest to it and shears it of its power.

From the North Georgia Times.

After investigating the bill which passed the senate by a vote of nearly two to one, and which will go to the house, we are of the opinion that changes from the present law. The only material change and intention of the pending bill, is to lessen the powers of the commissioners by giving either the power or the right to make any changes in this law would be detrimental to the people's welfare. Because we are more anxious to have a bill that is more lenient to the people of Georgia than three men who have absolute control over the welfare of the most worth of the most valuable property in the state.

What we advocate and what we want is a law that protects both railroads and people, their capital and labor, and property, and to build up railroads in Georgia, for the benefit of all the people. We want the recognition and approval of the law, and until then we are not going to build up railroads in Georgia, for the benefit of all the people. Many of the railroads are well built, and the people are well satisfied with them. When there is nothing in modern times that will in the same length of time bring about the same part of wealth and civilization as the people's railroads, we will be more anxious to have the railroads commission ought to be abolished outright, and let the laws of trade govern the prices of transportation. If that was the case, we would have no objection to it. But we are for that proposition which comes the nearest to it and shears it of its power.

The King of the Dudes.

Saratoga Letter.

I wish I could describe "Berry" Wall, the king of the dudes. He is about twenty-six years of age, slight build, black hair and mustache and black eyes. In walking he looks like a jester, riding a spear. His arms are curved and his shoulders are thrown forward. He is one of the fast young men. He has six suits of clothes and does not care for them. He owns over twenty-five canes and his hats are made for him in London. He has been one of the prominent figures around the summer meetings, and is a gentleman rider. Everyone points him out on the streets, but he doesn't seem to mind it. He wears his canes on his belt and on his trousers he never removes them. He has squandered $300,000 in four years and now he hasn't a penny to his name. His mother is immensely wealthy. Wall has been cutting quite a swath in society here, and few weeks ago he got into a fight in a saloon and cut out his tongue. Let me tell you he could lay hands on me. I asked an intimate friend of Wall's how the king of the dudes spent his time. He was the reply, "he gets up at 10 o'clock in the morning and his valet shaves and dresses him. He puts on his coat and waistcoat and goes to the spring, gets some water and comes back and dresses for breakfast. He puts on his coat and waistcoat and goes to the mahogany room. He retires after the races and dresses for dinner. Then for a black rock coat and a white shirt. Then for a suit and a shirt. He puts on a tail coat suit and ties dots until bed time."

All of which confirms the impression that the cool killer has not done his work thoroughly.

An Old Maxim says: "A wise man changes his mind, a fool never does." The people who have not the means to do so are not a sufficient number to see the results expected in the establishment of the railroad commission. A wise man who has the means to do so, and who have the representation of the railroads, are pouring out their acerbic accusations with every detail of the great question. Their verdict has been cast up and it calls for the modification of the power of the railroads. The people rarely ever fall in their judgment. They pull the threads from the burns of argument, while the best of them are not thinking over a question. Let them be wise.

AN EX-GOVERNOR Robbed.

BOSTON, October 8.—A gang of thieves, who have been operating in this city and vicinity, visited Newton last Saturday and robbed ex-Governor Cushing's house of diamond jewelry valued at $8,000.

Bank and Shop for Nickelsbury.

WICHITA, October 6.—The election today on the proposition of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railway company to locate its shops in this city resulted in 1,693 votes for the proposition and 210 against.

Reward for Dead Indians.

TOMBSTONE, Arizona, October 6.—The board of supervisors of Cochise county offer a reward of $300 for the body of the Apaches chief Geronimo, dead or alive, and $250 for the body of Ceremonio, dead or alive. The reward is to be paid to their representatives. Petitions are pouring in to their respective states, and they have become thoroughly aroused with every detail of the great question. Their verdict has been cast up and it calls for the modification of the power of the railroads. The people rarely ever fall in their judgment. They pull the threads from the burns of argument, while the best of them are not thinking over a question. Let them be wise.

ALL THROUGH DIXIE.

NEW ORLEANS, October 8.—A gang of thieves, who have been operating in this city and vicinity, visited Newton last Saturday and robbed ex-Governor Cushing's house of diamond jewelry valued at $8,000.
